

INDEPENDENT ARTISTS EXCEPT HIS, CRITIC HOLDS

Ernest Instant, Mt. Kisco Sage, Goes to Waldorf Roof, Sinking Pride, PEEVISH IN THE CRUSH

'Pogrom,' One of the 1,200 Pictures, Is Almost Tragic to Stout Visitor.

PROF. NEARING IN PLASTER Radical Orator Critically Views Himself as His Friends Pass Along.

Just before 10 o'clock last night Ernest Instant of Mount Kisco reached the roof of the Waldorf-Astoria and plunged into the throng that was taking in the private viewing of the fifth annual exhibition of the Society of Independent Artists. Mr. Instant was followed by his patroness, Mrs. Pauline Redfield, who said that she divided her time and fortune between encouraging Mr. Instant and "organizing splendid souls east of Chicago."

Under each of his arms Mr. Instant carried cubist landscapes done in oils and executed from Spy Rock looking north and south—"the only things worth looking at in all Westchester," he said.

In a loud, hoarse voice that suggested long sojourns in drafty places, Mr. Instant demanded that the way be cleared for him and his two landscapes.

"This exhibit is rotten," he roared. "I have here the soul of a county in two efforts. This exhibit is rotten. Was I notified? Was I? "No," replied Mrs. Redfield. "Mr. Instant wasn't."

"No, I wasn't," resumed Mr. Instant. "So this exhibit is rotten. But rotten or not, I'm part of it now. I'm here sacrificing pride and time and pride and—For heaven's sake, Madame, drag your body closer to you."

This last remark was addressed to a woman in a loose Grecian frock that had lost its tail in the crowd. She was dragging a young sister by the hand, and the little chap, in a wild effort to save himself from being crushed beneath the feet of the multitude around him, had grabbed one of Mr. Instant's landscapes and almost tore it from the artist's grasp.

Can't Tell Men From Women. "Move on! Ladies to the right and gents to the left," snapped a blond young woman in the hotel lobby. It was her job to keep folks moving, and she was making good. "My Gawd," she groaned, "I can't tell which is women and which is gentlemen to-night."

"It ain't you," the girl at the hat checking stall assured her. "It's them." By this time Mr. Instant and Mrs. Redfield had been merged with the selected hundreds who had been invited to the private viewing of 1,200 paintings, sketches and sculptures. He crowded to ease himself out of the crowd not far from where Prof. Scott Nearing was viewing with lofty unconcern a plaster portrait of himself. Between the figure portrait of Prof. Nearing and Lillmore Schenck's three cubist interpretations of something that was Schenck's head and neck, Mr. Instant caught his eye. He saw a head, a head shorter than Mr. Instant's, she held her share of art aloft.

"You will tire I fear, Pauline," said Mr. Instant. "Not in such sacred cause, Ida," she replied, explaining to the reporter for THE NEW YORK HERALD that Mr. Instant was Ida to her and she was Marcia to him. "You're right, Stephen Phillips, of course," she added.

Struggling in and out of the crowd was Bella Cohen, whose job it was to see that the reporters and critics be kept separate and taken in by one painting or the other. She was a woman who knew art from news and news from art. Bella shuddered a bit as the crowd made a big hit last year. For the sake of her future, get off my feet!

Bella had thus abjured a bulky individual in a dinner jacket and knickerbockers. "Here a clothing cutter by day and painter after supper every night," explained Miss Cohen. "He did that." And Miss Cohen pointed to a riotous painting of five inches square (the maximum size allowed for any one painting) for which the artist was demanding $2,500.

"He'll take less," explained Miss Cohen. "Between you and me, I think he'll take anything offered provided you make the offer quietly."

Two men and two women in strictly Little Russia garments got their heads together in the alcove of one painting. The Russian artist, a man named La Follette and Gene Debs and began singing the "Internationale."

"Think they're pulling off strong stuff because they're in the hotel," explained a youth selling programs. "This exhibition will go better after we begin charging admission. A lot of these guys will never come again when faced with a gate."

The exhibition continues until March 24. By a Woman Prisoner of the Bolsheviks. Mrs. Rita Haring, of the Bolsheviks of the World, is a remarkable series of seven portraits of her husband, who was jailed for five months by the Bolsheviks in an effort to "start a false confession of spying so she could be forced to do counter-revolutionary work." Begins in Sunday World tomorrow. Daily (morning) liberation—Ad.

SLEEPING SICKNESS CAUSES FOUR MORE DEATHS IN CITY

Record for Single Day Is Reported to Health Department—Only Three New Cases Develop—No Cause for Alarm.

Although there were four deaths in New York city yesterday from sleeping sickness, which is the record number reported to the Health Department in any single day since the disease became prevalent, Health Commissioner Cope-land said there was no cause for alarm.

The natural course of the disease is from two to three weeks, the Commissioner said, after which, in most cases, the patient either succumbs or recovers. The crisis, about two weeks ago, the new cases reported averaged ten to fifteen a day, so a corresponding jump in deaths is to be expected at this time. The fact that there were only three new cases reported during the twenty-

$1.50 GAS SOUGHT BY CONSOLIDATED

Request for 30 Cent. Increase to Be Made Before Judge Hand To-day.

John P. O'Brien, Corporation Counsel, announced yesterday that he had received notice that the Consolidated Gas Company would go to-day before Judge Learned Hand of the United States District Court and ask that it be allowed to charge $1.50 a thousand cubic feet for gas, or an increase of thirty cents a thousand feet over the present rate of $1.20, which the company is charging under a court order.

The notice, which was accompanied by a voluminous affidavit from William L. Hanson, counsel for the company, came as a complete surprise to the Corporation Counsel, who declared that he had received only forty-eight hours' notice of the proposed action of the company.

The rate of $1.20 was allowed by Judge Hand when the statutory rate of eighty cents was declared confiscatory. The $1.20 ruling was appealed. It was understood, however, that that rate was to be continued pending legislative action modifying the eighty-cent rate.

The increase of thirty cents now proposed would affect consumers in Manhattan, The Bronx and part of Astoria. Information from gas company sources last night was that last year's sales amounted to between 18,000,000 and 20,000,000 thousand cubic feet. That was for the Consolidated alone, however; but it was understood at the office of the Corporation Counsel that the increase would apply also to the companies controlled by the Consolidated.

Moody's Manual for 1919 gives the sales of the Consolidated and subsidiaries for 1919 as 35,674,972 thousand cubic feet. Those figures would indicate that a 30 cent increase would yield the company an annual gross increase of $10,603,486. It would not be surprising, however, if the 1921 sales of the Consolidated and subsidiaries reached approximately 35,000,000 thousand cubic feet, which at the present rate of $1.20 would yield $42,000,000, and to which the proposed additional 30 cents would add $10,500,000.

Persons closely associated with the gas company appeared surprised last night that the company's intention of going before the court should have become public. It was intimated that the company had decided that the petition would be filed to-day, and also that when filed the increase asked for might not be as high as 30 cents.

The company's intention of increasing the rate of $1.20 to $1.50 is costing the company a manufacture gas. Twenty cents of the proposed increase, it is stated, will be required to cover the cost of gas oil alone.

DR. W. T. SCHEELE GETS BOMB PLOT PENALTY

Only One Day in Custody in View of Late Services.

Dr. Walter T. Scheele, German-American chemist, indicted in New York in 1916 for placing bombs on allied ships in New York harbor, appeared yesterday before Judge Julius M. Mayer in the United States District Court and entered a plea of guilty. He was sentenced to serve one day in the custody of the United States Marshal, in whose office he remained until four o'clock, when he was released.

James W. Osborne, former Assistant United States Attorney, appeared in court and told Judge Mayer that the defendant had rendered valuable assistance to the United States Government after the country entered the war. He said that the defendant had aided in the discovery and manufacture of the enemy's gas.

THREE LANDLORDS SENT TO WORKHOUSE 10 DAYS

Failed to Provide Hot Water for Tenants.

There was wild celebration in three apartment houses of this city yesterday as a result of the action of the Justices of the Court of Special Sessions in sentencing three landlords to the workhouse for failure to provide hot water for their tenants.

The landlords were Jacob Denner, 57 years old, of 55 Madison street; Meyer Blumfeld, 60 years old, of 57 East 109th street; and William Bridges of 353 Seventh avenue. They were sentenced by Justices James J. McInerney, Joseph P. Morris and Arthur C. Salmon to serve ten days each in the workhouse and pay fines of $250 each. Should they fail to pay these fines they are to serve thirty days additional in the workhouse.

COCOANUT OIL MIXED IN MILK

$4,850 Fines Are Imposed on Dealers for Adulteration. Eleven milk and cream dealers were fined a total of $4,850 yesterday by Magistrate Charles Dodd in the Municipal Term of the Magistrates' Court, Brooklyn, for violating the health law by selling milk and cream adulterated with coconut oil.

DRY AGENTS IN BROOKLYN UNCOVER FIRST EVIDENCE OF SECRET BOOZE SOURCE.

ONLY 25 CENTS A DRINK

Ross Plans to Invoke Volstead Law to Close Violators' Places for Year.

ACCUSED COPS ACQUITTED

400 Quarts of Whiskey in Oil Cans Seized by Police on Staten Island.

Prohibition agents uncovered yesterday what they said was the first evidence obtained here in several months against retail druggists who are distributing liquor illegally, and serving as handy sources of supply for saloon keepers. They raided a drug store at 225 Hamilton avenue, Brooklyn, and reported the seizure of a quantity of alcohol and coloring matter, some of which, they said, was about to be transferred to a saloon across the street and sold as whiskey at 25 cents a drink.

The drug store is operated by W. Hofert & Co., who have a permit allowing them to purchase and distribute liquor for medicinal purposes. Agents Langley and Goldstein, who made the raid, found one case and several bottles of whiskey, which they did not confiscate because it was held under legitimate permit.

But they found also ten barrels and thirteen five gallon cans of alcohol, five five gallon demijohns of colored alcohol and one gallon of coloring matter. They said they found evidence which satisfied them that liquor was prepared there for sale through other than legitimate channels.

Offered $100 to "Forget It." Agent Langley alleges that a man in the drug store offered him $100 to "go away and forget about it" when he became suspicious and asked to investigate. Langley said a man went into the drug store with a whiskey bottle, which he admitted he intended to have filled in order to replenish the supply of the saloon across the street. No arrests have been made pending an investigation of the facts.

It was announced yesterday by United States Attorney Ross of Brooklyn that the power of injunction proceedings would be used against saloonkeepers who have been persistent violators of the Volstead act, with a view to closing their places of business for as much as a year. Authority for such action is contained in sections 21 and 22 of the Volstead act.

It is the feeling of Mr. Ross, besides that of many others occupied with the enforcement of prohibition, that the effect of criminal proceedings against saloonkeepers, saloons, and others, with the fines and occasional jail sentences that have been imposed, has not been drastic enough to really stem the flow of illegal traffic.

They point out that the huge profits in bootlegging and illegal selling make it possible for those engaged in the trade to pay big fines without thinking about it and to accept short jail sentences with the comfortable feeling that when they are released they will soon be able to more than make up for their lost time.

Can Close Places for a Year.

Section 21 of the Volstead act provides that "any room, house, building, boat, vehicle, structure or place where intoxicating liquor is manufactured, sold, kept or bartered is a violation of the law and declared to be a common nuisance," and that the court may order that the room or house shall not be used or occupied for one year thereafter.

It is believed that the proofs or admissions which were sufficient to cause the imposition of penalties in criminal actions against saloonkeepers and others will be sufficient to sustain an equity action.

SENT TO WORKHOUSE, PREFERRED SING SING

Purse Snatcher's Plea in Court Utterly Fails.

The craving of Donald McFayden of 208 Eighth avenue for lodgment at Sing Sing prison went unavailing yesterday, although Georgiana Wolff of 37 Lowell street, Waterbury, Conn., pleaded with Magistrate Rosenblatt in Jefferson Market Court to send him there.

The complainant said that she was on a shopping trip here yesterday when she had turned over the check to McFayden to let her purchase. As a result the shopping trip had to be abandoned temporarily and she became furious. McFayden, nodded wisely when Sing Sing was mentioned.

"Send me there, Judge," he said. "Give you a piece of change and a new suit when you get out. New over on the island it's different. The last time they turned me out with only a straw hat. Assistant District Attorney Drenzo suggested McFayden might like it at the Ritz or the Waldorf, but Magistrate Rosenblatt made it six months in the workhouse. "If I got a straw hat when you leave this time don't kick," he said. "They'll be wearing them then."

DRYED ALCOHOL FOR SALOON FOUND IN DRUG STORE RAID

Dry Agents in Brooklyn Uncover First Evidence of Secret Booze Source.

ONLY 25 CENTS A DRINK

Ross Plans to Invoke Volstead Law to Close Violators' Places for Year.

ACCUSED COPS ACQUITTED

400 Quarts of Whiskey in Oil Cans Seized by Police on Staten Island.

Prohibition agents uncovered yesterday what they said was the first evidence obtained here in several months against retail druggists who are distributing liquor illegally, and serving as handy sources of supply for saloon keepers. They raided a drug store at 225 Hamilton avenue, Brooklyn, and reported the seizure of a quantity of alcohol and coloring matter, some of which, they said, was about to be transferred to a saloon across the street and sold as whiskey at 25 cents a drink.

The drug store is operated by W. Hofert & Co., who have a permit allowing them to purchase and distribute liquor for medicinal purposes. Agents Langley and Goldstein, who made the raid, found one case and several bottles of whiskey, which they did not confiscate because it was held under legitimate permit.

But they found also ten barrels and thirteen five gallon cans of alcohol, five five gallon demijohns of colored alcohol and one gallon of coloring matter. They said they found evidence which satisfied them that liquor was prepared there for sale through other than legitimate channels.

Offered $100 to "Forget It." Agent Langley alleges that a man in the drug store offered him $100 to "go away and forget about it" when he became suspicious and asked to investigate. Langley said a man went into the drug store with a whiskey bottle, which he admitted he intended to have filled in order to replenish the supply of the saloon across the street. No arrests have been made pending an investigation of the facts.

It was announced yesterday by United States Attorney Ross of Brooklyn that the power of injunction proceedings would be used against saloonkeepers who have been persistent violators of the Volstead act, with a view to closing their places of business for as much as a year. Authority for such action is contained in sections 21 and 22 of the Volstead act.

It is the feeling of Mr. Ross, besides that of many others occupied with the enforcement of prohibition, that the effect of criminal proceedings against saloonkeepers, saloons, and others, with the fines and occasional jail sentences that have been imposed, has not been drastic enough to really stem the flow of illegal traffic.

Can Close Places for a Year.

Section 21 of the Volstead act provides that "any room, house, building, boat, vehicle, structure or place where intoxicating liquor is manufactured, sold, kept or bartered is a violation of the law and declared to be a common nuisance," and that the court may order that the room or house shall not be used or occupied for one year thereafter.

It is believed that the proofs or admissions which were sufficient to cause the imposition of penalties in criminal actions against saloonkeepers and others will be sufficient to sustain an equity action.

SENT TO WORKHOUSE, PREFERRED SING SING

Purse Snatcher's Plea in Court Utterly Fails.

The craving of Donald McFayden of 208 Eighth avenue for lodgment at Sing Sing prison went unavailing yesterday, although Georgiana Wolff of 37 Lowell street, Waterbury, Conn., pleaded with Magistrate Rosenblatt in Jefferson Market Court to send him there.

The complainant said that she was on a shopping trip here yesterday when she had turned over the check to McFayden to let her purchase. As a result the shopping trip had to be abandoned temporarily and she became furious. McFayden, nodded wisely when Sing Sing was mentioned.

"Send me there, Judge," he said. "Give you a piece of change and a new suit when you get out. New over on the island it's different. The last time they turned me out with only a straw hat. Assistant District Attorney Drenzo suggested McFayden might like it at the Ritz or the Waldorf, but Magistrate Rosenblatt made it six months in the workhouse. "If I got a straw hat when you leave this time don't kick," he said. "They'll be wearing them then."

Broadway at Ninth Street, New York. Business Hours 9 to 5.

There Is One Good Wife in the Country and happy is the man who knows he has her.

But he should tell her so for encouragement in her servitude to make the home a little heaven on earth for the family and their friends.

One travels the world around and comes back invariably to say, there is no place like home. Do you remember that you were tearfully homesick the first time you went to Europe among strangers and had to work your way with unknown languages?

The undoing of men and women, who come to large cities from the country is mainly because they left their homes behind them and nobody seemed to care.

[Signed] John Wanamaker

February 26, 1921.

Piano Recital

CARL V. LACHMUND, pianist and composer, will direct a Piano Recital in the Wanamaker Auditorium today, at 2:30.

First Gallery, New Building.

Income Tax Returns We'll Help You

Two representatives of the Collector of Internal Revenue are here, in the Mezzanine Gallery, New Building, at the service of Wanamaker customers.

IMPORTANT

The sale of H. & S. G. Lindeman new pianos—$47.50 grades for $345—and new player-pianos—$650 grades for $525—will continue today in the Piano Salons, First Gallery, New Building. Convenient terms.

Advances exhibit of the goods in the March Sale of China, Glass and Artware, Second Gallery, New Building. Orders taken will be entered as of March 1st.

Orders may be given now for Knickerbocker Hardwater Soap at 75c per doz. cakes ($2 was the price during the past year) and for Blue-mottle laundry soap at 5c for the 8-oz. bar. These are the March Sale prices. Find the Knickerbocker Soap in the Toiletory Section. Main Floor, Old Building—the laundry soap in the Housewares Store, Seventh Gallery, New Building.

Boys' wool blue Serge Suits, $16.50

With two pairs of trousers. Yes, actually two-trouser serge suits for this low price. Serge suits are not only possible again, but these suits are of a very fine quality, serge, finely tailored, Wanamaker standard. The same quality last season sold for $25.

New Spring models

Coats are alpaca lined, belted with same serge; trousers fully lined and shapely cut. Every part reflects care in tailoring and construction. All sizes. 7 to 18 years.

Boys' Caps, $1.25 to $3.50. All new stock. Sizes 7 to 18 years.

Today's Sales

FURNITURE AT HALF PRICE in the February Sale. Fifth and Sixth Galleries, New Bldg.

NEW PIANOS AND PLAYER-PIANOS—reduced. First Gallery, New Building.

OSTRICH FANS, $12.50. SILK HANDBAGS, $5. Main Floor, Old Building.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' BOOKS, 50c; NOVELS, 50c. CHOCOLATES, BONBONS, MARSHMALLOWS, 50c lb.

MAXFIELD PARRISH PRINTS, framed, $1.25 to $2.50. NUTTING PICTURES, wood or gilt frames, $2.

BLouses, voile, drawn-work, lace-trimmed, $2. DRESSES, gingham, 2 to 6 yrs., $1.95; bloomers, 50c.

Lingerie of crepe de chine, special; bodices, $2. Chemises, $2.95 and $3.95. Nightgowns, $5. Bloomers, $2.95 and $3.95. Silk moire handbags, $3.

Gifts of special features. Main Floor, Old Building.

The John Wanamaker Store Formerly A. T. Stewart & Co.

Last Saturday for Furniture at HALF in the February SALE

(1) A quiet tip—"Best furniture sale of the year."

(2) Start out together. The way is well trodden.

(3) If you spend $100 you save $100—in this sale.

Very, very smart Tweed Suits, $27.75

For such suits as these, the price of $27.75 seems absurd. The suits are of beautiful soft tweed in light gray, French blue, tan, rose and heliotrope; beautifully made in two very correct and well-tailored models, both with notch collars, narrow shoulders and narrow belts. Slenderness of line is emphasized by an inverted pleat or fine tucks in the back. Lined with an excellent quality of gray satin. Second Floor, Old Building.

New Fashions at new low prices For Miss 14 to 20

Our prices are nearly down to those of 1914. Frocks of crepe de chine, Poiret twill and taffeta—one model in the latter silk is typical of the fashions introduced by Jeanne Lanvin; the great width of its skirt is emphasized by the heavy cording which alternates with wide tucks; the quaint little basque is unadorned except for collar and cuffs of daintily embroidered batiste; in navy blue, dark brown or black.

"Burnham" Coats, $39.50. A good-looking London model reproduced in heavy heather-spun coatings—in the new shades of blue, tan, green and brown; also in imported tweeds. Half lined with silk. New and exclusive! New covert cloth coats—immaculately tailored—also at $45 and $49.50.

New Suits at $75. Four new models for town wear—in navy blue or black, turtleneck, or cross-barred wool velours. Smart severity is the keynote of each model. One style has a box coat which may be worn straight or drawn in at the waist with narrow girdle. Model has the new braided-wood coat.

Second Floor, Old Building Tenth Street.

Clever wool jersey Frocks at $37.50

Smart simple frock illustrated is one of the most practical frocks designed for the spring season. The simple pleated skirt and the surplice bodice, with its tie-around girdle, are exponents of the mode that demands slenderness and simplicity in every line.

The detachable collar and cuffs of heavy linen crash and the rows of self-colored stitching on the bodice are the only trimming. In sand color, Byzantine gray and Maeterlink blue. Second Floor, Old Building.

Silk Stockings are now $3.75

Plain black, full fashioned, medium or light weight, high spliced heel, double sole and top. Clocked—black with black, red, green or Copenhagen blue clocking; white with white, black and also some colors; fully fashioned. Sizes 8½ to 10 in. both. Main Floor, Old Building.

Distinctive Pumps ---new lines, $9.50

Pumps with Colonial lines are finding much favor this spring among women of taste who welcome the mode that is dainty, yet entirely correct. In patent leather and dull black calfskin. First Floor, Old Building.

Boys' wool blue Serge Suits, $16.50

With two pairs of trousers. Yes, actually two-trouser serge suits for this low price. Serge suits are not only possible again, but these suits are of a very fine quality, serge, finely tailored, Wanamaker standard. The same quality last season sold for $25.

New Spring models

Coats are alpaca lined, belted with same serge; trousers fully lined and shapely cut. Every part reflects care in tailoring and construction. All sizes. 7 to 18 years.

Boys' Caps, $1.25 to $3.50. All new stock. Sizes 7 to 18 years.

Today's Sales

FURNITURE AT HALF PRICE in the February Sale. Fifth and Sixth Galleries, New Bldg.

NEW PIANOS AND PLAYER-PIANOS—reduced. First Gallery, New Building.

OSTRICH FANS, $12.50. SILK HANDBAGS, $5. Main Floor, Old Building.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' BOOKS, 50c; NOVELS, 50c. CHOCOLATES, BONBONS, MARSHMALLOWS, 50c lb.

MAXFIELD PARRISH PRINTS, framed, $1.25 to $2.50. NUTTING PICTURES, wood or gilt frames, $2.

BLouses, voile, drawn-work, lace-trimmed, $2. DRESSES, gingham, 2 to 6 yrs., $1.95; bloomers, 50c.

Lingerie of crepe de chine, special; bodices, $2. Chemises, $2.95 and $3.95. Nightgowns, $5. Bloomers, $2.95 and $3.95. Silk moire handbags, $3.

Gifts of special features. Main Floor, Old Building.

IT is not big type and big talk in the newspapers—but the quality, fashion and fair price of the goods in the store which make value and give lasting satisfaction.

the day of days

for thrifty home-makers; for wives and husbands to come to Wanamaker's together and select their new furniture and save half its regular cost.

Half price for bedroom furniture—matched suites and separate pieces.

Half price for living room furniture—matched suites and separate pieces. $200,000 worth—all of it Wanamaker furniture.

Next Tuesday every piece remaining unsold goes back to its regular price.

Fifth Gallery, New Building Sixth Gallery, New Building

Lamb's-wool filled Quilts, only $5.50

This is a very remarkable offer. We are enabled to make the price so low because certain floating lots of wool came into the possession of our manufacturer, underprice.

Covered with sateen showing floral design in old rose, delft blue or gold, both sides, with plain sateen borders to match; stitched all over. Fourth Gallery, New Building.

Muslin Sheets and Pillow Cases

Fine Quality Muslin 54x90 in. sheets..... $1.10 63x90 in. sheets..... $1.25 72x90 in. sheets..... $1.35 81x90 in. sheets..... $1.50 45x36 in. pillow cases..... 39c

First Floor, Old Building.

THE MEN'S STORE

The Men's Store keeps men in good humor

Men's Two-trousers Suits, $37.50

A happy idea. How many a suit has been discarded before it should be, simply because of the lack of an extra pair of trousers! These suits are in conservative and semi-conservative styles. Materials are unfinished worsteds and flannels, in grays, blues, browns and heather mixtures. Serges in blue only. All sizes for young and elderly men.

New Shoes, $9

All leather, calfskin or kidskin, with oak-tanned soles, solid lifts in heels, leather boxes and counters. Will wear well. The price is very low. In black and tan, medium toe with broad tread, low heels, with stout single soles, blind eyelets to top; black kidskin, broad toe, lace with eyelets and hooks.

Burlington Arcade Floor, New Building.